Dear Resident

Further restrictions have been eased today with holidays to regional NSW allowed for the fully vaccinated. Booking caps for hospitality venues have been removed, along with hotel quarantine for returning vaccinated travellers. You can see the Premier's announcement on these changes below.

I've included information on vaccine booster shots that are now available in NSW, COVID case-location alerts that are available from the Service NSW app and air ventilation systems being installed in NSW schools for better airflow in learning spaces. Also included is information on free TAFE hospitality courses and new mental health initiatives being rolled out across NSW.

BeachWatch Report brings good news on our local water quality

I'm pleased to share the good news that all of our local swimming spots have been rated 'Good' and 'Very Good' in Beachwatch NSW's 2020-21 State of the Beaches report released yesterday.

Importantly, Rose Bay Beach has been upgraded to 'Good' after many years of rating 'Poor'. It's why I first set up the Rose Bay Beach Working Group in October 2017 to identify solutions to improve the water quality at the Beach. Thanks to local residents and Woollahra Council for working with me closely on this important local project! Find out more about our local results here.

Today's daily health update is below as well as updated times for our local COVID-19 testing clinics, and local cases and vaccination rates.

Please contact me if I can be of assistance.

Kind regards

NSW EMBRACES NOVEMBER 1 ROADMAP MILESTONE

Families and friends will be reunited as Aussies start arriving home in time for Christmas, with NSW reaching the November 1 roadmap milestone and restrictions further eased for the double-vaccinated.

From today, fully vaccinated residents can travel for holidays and recreation between Greater Sydney and regional NSW, bookings for hospitality venues are no longer capped and fully vaccinated travellers from overseas can enter NSW without having to quarantine, subject to Commonwealth border restrictions.

Premier Dominic Perrottet said November could not start in a more positive way with families and friends reuniting after so long apart.

“Today is a day many people have been waiting for and our high vaccination rates have allowed us to re-open in a safe and considered way,” Mr Perrottet said.

“Families and friends across NSW can now get together as well look forward to welcoming back home Australians who have been overseas trying to get home.”

The NSW Government has removed quarantine requirements and caps for overseas arrivals who the Commonwealth Government recognises as fully vaccinated with a TGA-approved vaccine. Fully vaccinated travellers already in quarantine will also complete their quarantine requirements on November 1, even if it is less than 14 days.

Overseas travellers who are not fully vaccinated must undergo managed 14-day hotel quarantine, and the cap will remain at 210 people per week.

Parents of Australian citizens and permanent residents can also travel to Australia from today, with applications made through the Department of Home Affairs Travel Exemption Portal.

Deputy Premier Paul Toole said the easing of travel restrictions between Regional NSW and Greater Sydney would provide a huge boost to the state.

“Today is a great day for regional NSW. I know Sydneysiders are busting to head to the bush and we can’t wait to welcome them back with open arms and for families and friends to get the chance to reunite,” Mr Toole said.

“Around 82 per cent of the population in regional NSW has now been fully vaccinated - this an exceptional result and I want to thank every single person who has rolled up their sleeves so travel can resume and businesses can start to bounce back.”

Minister for Jobs, Investment, Tourism and Western Sydney Stuart Ayres said it was time for Sydney to regain its title as the gateway to the nation with Australians coming home in time for Christmas.

“NSW is again open for business. People can come together in a safe way whether it be returning home from overseas or getting together for an end-of-year gathering at your favourite venue,” Mr Ayres said.

More than $530 million has been invested in reviving events across the state and getting tourism back on track as part of the NSW Government’s COVID-19 Economic Recovery Plan.

Health Minister Brad Hazzard said NSW was leading Australia out of the pandemic, with the state close to now reaching the 90 per cent double-dose vaccination rate.

“The people of NSW can be proud of our vaccination rate, and there’s no reason we can’t reach 95 per cent double-dose vaccination to help ensure we get on top of this pandemic,” Mr Hazzard said.

NSW residents across the state will still need to comply with COVID-Safe check-ins and provide proof of vaccination to staff in most settings.

NSW PUBLIC HEALTH ALERT - COVID-19 STATISTICS

NSW recorded 135 new locally acquired cases of COVID-19 in the 24 hours to 8pm last night.

No new cases were acquired overseas, and one new case was acquired interstate. Seven cases have been excluded following further investigation, bringing the total number of cases in NSW since the beginning of the pandemic to 75,218.

Sadly, NSW Health is today reporting the deaths of four people with COVID-19, two men and two women.

Two people, a man in his 70s and a woman aged 101, acquired their infections at the Mercy Place aged care facility in Albury. They were both fully vaccinated and had underlying health conditions. There have now been five deaths linked to an outbreak at this aged care facility.

A man in his 60s who died at Concord Hospital acquired his infection at Parklea Correctional Centre. He was not vaccinated and had underlying health conditions.

A woman in her 60s from south east Sydney died at Prince of Wales Hospital. She was not vaccinated and had underlying health conditions.

NSW Health expresses its sincere condolences to their loved ones.

There have been 518 COVID-19 related deaths in NSW since 16 June 2021 and 574 in total since the start of the pandemic.

There have been 69,526 locally acquired cases reported since 16 June 2021, when the first case in this outbreak was reported.

There are currently 349 COVID-19 cases admitted to hospital, with 77 people in intensive care, 33 of whom require ventilation.

There were 62,857 COVID-19 tests reported to 8pm last night, compared with the previous day's total of 75,378.

To 11:59pm on Saturday 30 October 2021 across NSW, 93.6 per cent of people aged 16 and over had received a first dose of COVID-19 vaccine, and 87.7 per cent were fully vaccinated.

In the 12-15 year old age group, 79.3 per cent have had their first dose, and 61.8 per cent are fully vaccinated.

The total number of vaccines administered in NSW is now 12,329,131 with 4,050,714 doses administered by NSW Health to 8pm last night and 8,278,417 administered by the GP network, pharmacies and other providers to 11:59pm on Saturday 30 October 2021.

Of the 135 locally acquired cases reported to 8pm last night, 30 are from Hunter New England Local Health District (LHD), 26 are from Murrumbidgee LHD, 23 are from South Western Sydney LHD, 14 are from Mid North Coast LHD, 11 are from Sydney LHD, nine are from Western Sydney LHD, five are from Southern NSW LHD, three are from Illawarra Shoalhaven LHD, three are from Nepean Blue Mountains LHD, two are from Northern Sydney LHD, two are from South Eastern Sydney LHD, two are from Western NSW LHD, one is from Central Coast LHD, one is from Far West NSW LHD and three are from correctional settings.

NSW Health state-run clinics are now offering a booster dose, using the Pfizer COVID-19 vaccine, to individuals aged 18 and over.

This booster shot will help people maintain a high level of protection against the COVID-19 virus, including the Delta variant.

People aged 18 years and older may receive a booster at least six months after receiving their second dose of any of the COVID-19 vaccines registered for use in Australia.

From today, with fully vaccinated international travellers returning to the country without quarantine, regional travel, and other restrictions easing - it's more important than ever to continue our COVID-19 safe behaviours.

It is vital that anyone who has any symptoms of COVID-19 is tested immediately and isolates.

It is critical that we maintain high testing rates, particularly in the regions, including in areas where there are no cases. Testing allows us to know where the virus may be circulating and gives us the ability to get any potential outbreaks under control as quickly as possible.

If you haven't received a COVID-19 vaccination yet, please don't delay. Even if you have had COVID-19 and recovered, you should get vaccinated.

In this phase of the pandemic, the onus is on every one of us to keep each other safe, especially our most vulnerable.

This also means wearing a mask where required, practicing physical distancing, particularly in indoor settings, maintaining hand hygiene, and always checking in using the Service NSW app.
